A week end visit brought together four generations of the R. A. Glenn family, of Appomattox. Shown above are Mrs. Florence Pavlowski, Mr. Glenn's daughter; R. A. Glenn and his great-granddaughter, Karen Renee' Sileo, two months, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sileo with their other daughter, Lisa Marie, 16 months old. Mrs. Pavlowski and the Sileos live in Stamford, Conn.

Club Selling Holiday Cards

Christmas card buyers this year have their choice of two designs when ordering from the Appomattox Junior Woman's Club. Each member is taking orders for cards to benefit Camp Easter Seal. Part of each contribution will send a local youngster to the summer treatment center for crippled or handicapped children. Buyers may order as many as they wish, and then make a contribution. There is no set price.

Both card designs are colorful and attractive, says a club spokesman. One is an original from a Junior Woman's club of Virginia. The club asks you to order now, and help crippled children of the state.

Tri-Hi-Y Names District Delegates

The last meeting of the Sr. Tri-Hi-Y was held on October 17, 1963 in the high school auditorium. The president, Gloria Dose, presided over the entire meeting. Judy Smith, our chaplin, led us in devotions. Sandra Pankey read the secretary's report and the roll call was taken. The business part of the meeting was adjourned. It was concluded that the Sr. Tri-Hi-Y Club would have a bake sale, Friday, October 25 at the Appomattox Garment Factory. The club will also send three nominees and delegates to district meeting this month, held in Lynchburg.

HD Women Hold Achievement Day, Oct. 25

More than fifty Home Demonstration club members were present to hear a book review, view famous paintings, and hear special music for the annual Achievement Day program at the AHS auditorium Friday, Oct. 25.

Mrs. Vi Harwood, county librarian praised "Tears Are For the Living", as a novel well worth reading. The book, based on post Civil War happenings begimning with the Appomattox surrender, is written by Margaret Banister, a Lynchburg native.

Mrs. Richard Janatka displayed low cost reproduction of famous paintings and gave hints on how to frame and hang them attractively. Mrs. Walter Carson accompanied Mrs. Millard Stimpson in two vocal numbers.

Mrs. H. D. Folks, county-council vice president presided. She paid tribute in rhyme to Home Demonstration women honored for attaining at least four of the county H.D. Goals; also, those who were presented reading certificates.

TRIBUTE TO ACHIEVEMENT
by Mrs. Alice Folks

The time has come, I sadly fear,
When we must look forward to another year.
This one is past
With all its treasures.
Let's forget its troubles, remember its pleasures.
Our guests today, we hope you can smile.
And for that count the day as being worthwhile,
In a month we look forward to expressing our thanks
Why not begin now with our two local banks!
Our yearbooks of which we think a great deal.
Are provided by the Bank where William Burke's the big wheel.
For the 4H Club banquet by 6's and 7's, we thank the other bank and T. DeWitt Evans.
While way up on MY thank you list,
I have Shirley Torrence who should surely be kissed.
For all the work smiling done to help us Club Women have our fun.
To those on our program today I must say
A special thank you in a special way,
Will you Martha, Nancy, Margaret and Vi, please stand?
Come on girls, let's give them a big hand.
For the use of this school today, by heck
Our thanks must go to Mr. Frank Chuchek.
These are not all, though it may seem a lot
Our county officials, let's forget them not.
Coming a close second in prestige to them
Are our Home Demonstration members and the club chairmen.
We're near the last, but by far not the least
Thank you refreshment committee who prepared our feast.
Of course there's one left — there's none put above her
Our own Peggy Berger, my how we love her!

Proposes Civic Chorus For This County

Are there singers in Appomattox county interested in having a civic chorus? Reverend Thomas A. Waddill, pastor of Spout Spring Baptist Church, has agreed to direct such a group if sufficient interest is shown in the project.

To Meet Sunday, 2:30 p.m.

First meeting of choir directors, singers, and other interested persons, has been called for Sunday, Nov. 3 at 2:30 at the Appomattox Court House.

May Sing 'Messiah'

Tentative plans call for the new group to sing four of the more familiar choruses from Handel's Messiah" plus the "Hallelujah Chorus" and selected solos by various singers from this area. Both young people and adults are urged to join. A nursery for young children will be provided Sunday and for subsequent practices, which may also be held on the Sunday afternoons preceding Christmas.

All who have copies of The Messiah are asked to bring them to Sunday's rehearsal

Transco To Spend Millions For New Facilities

HOUSTON, TEXAS: Oct. 25— Transco spelled out $24 million of new facilities to be built in 1964 when it filed in Washington today (Friday) an application with the Federal Power Commission.

The new facilities will raise daily pipeline allocations to 34 customers by 43,845,000 cubic feet.

At points along its mainline route from Texas across the Deep South and up the Eastern Seaboard to New York City, Transco proposes to add 58 miles of 36-inch -diameter pipe and, principally on the Southeast Louisiana Lateral system, a like number (58) miles of 30-inch. The 36-inch pipe will be laid in sections parallel to the existing two and three line system in Mississippi, Alabama, Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Additional compression horsepower will be added at stations near Laurel, Miss., Chatham, Va. and Delta, Pa.

Big Cider Barrel

It's the season — and that's the reason that Leonard Garrett, Tower operator at the Piney Mountain Fire Tower has a big barrel of cider in his basement. Rebels Bow To Hawks

GRETNA — Late Friday the Gretna Hawks slipped by our Appomattox Rebels in a hard fought battle; highlighted by the playing of our G. H. Jamerson and Gretna's quarterback Ronnie Kinney. This defeat leaves Appomattox with a 3-2-1 standing in district play and 4-3-1 overall.

Both teams struggled for a TD in the beginning quarter, but to no avail. Then in the second period the Hawks worked their way to the Rebel 2 on two passes from McKinney for 20-yards and 10-yards. On the following play McKinney slipped over for the touchdown. Gretna's PAT attempt fell short of the goal. Neither score at the half stood: Gretna 6, Appomattox 0.

In the third quarter the Rebels looked as if they were coming back as they scored deep in the Gretna territory, but their drive ran out of steam twenty yards short of their destination. From then on the teams seemed evenly matched as they remained scoreless during the last half of play.

The Rebels will travel to Blackstone November 1 for their last away game. Follow your team and support them.

An Opportunity To Desgin The TB Christmas Seal For 1965 Is Given

Again this year, the National Tuberculosis Association is asking for designs for the Christmas TB seals and is conducting a contest over the nation for this purpose.

Mrs. Emma Anthony, executive secretary of the Central TB and Health Association with headquarters in Farmville, is hoping that through publicity given in this area, the association will receive many local entries in the contest to obtain a design for the 1965 seal.

An illustrated pamphlet, "A Call for Artists," is available free from the Central TB and Health office at 105 High Street, Farmville, upon request.

The illustrated pamphlet provides specifications for seal designs and hints to the artist for the preparation of art work. The newly revised edition of the pamphlet tells about the $1,000 award for the winning Christmas seal design.

Mrs. Katherine Rowe, of Richmond, won the award in 1958 for her design of a little girl and a little boy feeding the birds and squirrels.

She said she got her inspiration for the design from her children feeding the squirrels and pigeons in Capitol Square, Richmond.

Special Dinner At Evergreen

The Evergreen Methodist Church has organized the Methodist Sunday Evening Fellowship. The first program will be Sunday night, November 3. There will be a fellowship covered dish supper at six p.m. The program will begin at seven.

James Hall, of Appomattox, will show slides of many places of interest which he took last summer on his trip to Europe.

Thurman Williams On USS Springfield

USS SPRINGFIELD (FHTNC) — Thurman H. Williams, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rankin Williams, of Route 1, Appomattox, recently reported for duty aboard the guided missile light cruiser USS Springfield, a Sixth Fleet unit currently undergoing overhaul in the New York Naval Shipyard.

Upon completing her yard period, the Springfield will proceed to her home port of Mayport, Fla., to prepare for her role as flagship of Commander Sixth Fleet.

Mediterranean ports of call for Springfield include Gibraltar, Beirut, Lebanon, and other Southern European coastal cities.

While with the Sixth Fleet Springfield operates out of Villefranche, France.

Local Players Attend H-SC Homecoming

Among the 4,000 alumni, friends, and football fans gathered for the annual Hampden-Sydney Homecoming were Coach Bragg and ten members of the Appomattox teams. They were Neal Conner, Doug Mitchell, Mike Mitchell, Dicky Smith, "Peaches Smith, Butch Bryant, Joe Terry, Charles Martin, Kenneth Baldwin, and Wilfred Rodgers.

The oldest alumni who returned for the day was Herbert Bouldin Hawes, of the class of 1892. Mr. Hawes, 92, is a relative of George, Herbert, and Miss Virginia Shirey, of Spout Spring.
